

Introducing a completely integrated home system for today's and tomorrow's homes.

The "option" that's an essential in today's "wired" society.

The Leviton Structured Media™ System is where the present meets the future in residential wiring. That's because it integrates:

- High-speed Internet capability
- Whole-house audio
- Lighting controls
- Whole-house video
- Family and home monitoring
- Power quality

To turn the house of today into the home of tomorrow.

The Leviton Structured Media System is designed to meet growing consumer awareness and demand for a structured wiring system. It is a product that will enhance the image of your homes, and allow you to offer affordable upgrades with high perceived value.

Most importantly, the Leviton Structured Media System is a compelling traffic builder and sales closer against competitors who do not offer this powerful lifestyle amenity. The almost universal presence of the Internet, the rise in the popularity of home offices and theaters, the desire for multi-room audio, and an increase in the popularity of dimming, security lighting, and surge protection make the Leviton Structured Media System an essential part of your total home presentation.

The Structured Media System that appeals to today's home buyers.

The Structured Media System provides a flexible, easily expanded capability that makes living the "wired" lifestyle simple, instead of an endless exercise in mastering technology. It is a system for all types of houses, from starter home to trade-up to custom.

The Leviton Structured Media System connects with integrated voice and data utility services to provide multiple phone lines, cable, satellite, and fax/modem capability for home office, whole-house Internet access, and in-home networking for computers and shared peripherals, like printers.]

- QuickPort® Cat 5e data and F connectors
- Decora® surge protection receptacle
- Chopin™ digital volume control
- Mural™ multi-scene lighting control
- Decora® security camera
- Decora® Strauss™ Transformer-Free™ volume control

All devices shown in Decora® Plus screwless wallplate.

The Leviton Structured Media System entertains with whole-house audio and video (VCR, cable, satellite, DVD, DTV). It also sets a mood with dimmers that coordinate with room decor, while they adjust lighting levels to make watching television that much more enjoyable.

And, the Structured Media System protects by bringing closed-circuit video monitoring to children's rooms, and providing home control for programmed security lighting.

Whether you use it as an upgrade or as a standard feature, the Leviton Structured Media System adds value to your homes and makes them easier to sell.

A system ready for home networking, video, stereo and security.

The heart of the System is the Structured Media™ Center, a unit that uses snap-in modules to allow easy installation, customization and future-proofing.

The Structured Media Center is linked to QuickPort® multimedia outlets that provide room connections for voice, data, video and audio. Whole-house surge protection is also available to protect the home and its many sensitive electronic contents from damaging overvoltages.

The Leviton Structured Media System also offers more visible advantages. Because it's from Leviton, the popular Decora® style is designed as much for fit, finish, and overall aesthetics as it is for electrical/electronic performance. After all, the aim of the System is to function with the utmost reliability, without calling attention to itself.

Leviton Integrated Networks: Backed by Leviton marketing and training support.

The Leviton Integrated Networks Division provides powerful corporate support for home systems in a model home program that offers merchandising displays, marketing graphics, builder sales training, consumer sales tools, web-site, and a one-year limited warranty.

A unique combination of forward thinking technology and old-fashioned reliability from the company that may already be meeting your line voltage needs, Leviton Integrated Networks is a total solution designed for you and your customers. It will reduce the number of vendors you have to deal with by establishing a single-source for many of your electrical and electronic requirements.

www.leviton.com/lin
Call Leviton at 800-323-8920